InCourage & ExperienceChange

It can take immense courage for any leader to stand out from the pack and declare “This is working now, but it won’t forever. We should be making different choices for our future”. Creating anything new often means uncertainty, instability, and costs for the short-term. And risk for the long-term. The status quo is almost always easier, but the cost is staggering.

OUTCOMES

- Break down resistance
- Engage every stakeholder
- Maximize all “bottom lines”
- Sustain change

Three distinct simulations make up ExperienceChange.

GlobalTech has hired you to save the company! With limited time and resources, you must identify the issues, create a change plan, and implement this plan in the face of company-wide resistance.

At SkyTech you must create a responsibility strategy that balances profit with human rights, community service and business ethics. Then implement your strategy in the face of resistance, tight budgets, and difficult timelines.

At Lakeview Hospital, your are challenged to reduce patient wait-times in an emergency department by following change management best practice, building stakeholder buy-in, and applying lean management practices. With limited time and resources, can you implement lasting change?

Now you can have the best of both worlds, award winning sims developed by ExperiencePoint, a company that has designed engaging, powerful simulations that enable focused experience with business theory, techniques and the facilitation expertise of InCourage.
